Program Description provided by the Applicant (from Executive Summary on Proposal Template):

Women & Children First: The Center Against Family Violence will be the first in the state to house holistic services for victims of domestic violence of all ages under one roof. In addition to moving our current shelter, Women & Children First, the 24-hour state hotline, and the Family Peace Center is joining several other organizations to locate at the new site. This will provide a more integrated system of services for adults and children who are impacted by domestic violence, sexual assault, and child abuse.

Eligible Per CTEH/Hagerty Review:

The proposal for Women and Children First is eligible, however this response is based on the current U.S. Treasury guidance, which is subject to change. This response does not constitute a determination of eligibility from the State of Arkansas and or CTEH/Hagerty Consulting. As a recipient of Federal funds, sub-recipients of State ARP funding are responsible for proper administration and compliance, including compliance with all Treasury guidance, as well as 2 CFR 200, and AR grant guidance and requirements.

The services are directed towards households or populations disproportionately impacted by the COVID-19 public health emergency and are generally aligned with the ARPA funding guidance in the Interim Final Rule specifically in Section 35.6 Eligible Uses (b)(12)(i)(C) "Community violence intervention programs."

Here, the outfitting of this building with supplies and equipment would enable the facility to service the community.

A proposal enhancing the volume or quality of services provided by the organization is eligible if a proposal was provided by the applicant which could adequately justify they are serving the needs of a disproportionately impacted population or that the program is designed to prevent violence and mitigate the increase in violence during the pandemic.

DFA Proposal Status: DFA can support the approval of this program based upon the review completed by CTEH Hagerty.

The original request for the Women and Children First was for the construction of a building for approximately $9.2 million dollars in Southwest Little Rock. ARPA funds did not allow for new construction projects. After discussions with the members of the Board, the decision was made to change the request to cover only the furniture, fixtures, appliances and meal cost for the first year of operations.

The list was created and then revised several times to determine the best eligible list of purchases to support the home. Through this process, several emails were exchanged between Paul Louthian of DFA, Daniel White of CTEH and John Grathwol of Hagerty Consulting to finalize the list being reviewed today. This list of items is eligible under ARPA.

THE FAMILY PEACE CENTER MODEL:

The current process for helping victims of domestic violence can be confusing, complex, and difficult to access. Inefficiencies strain limited public and private resources and often force victims to recount their painful experiences to multiple providers. Women must find transportation to as many as 20 different offices to obtain orders of protection from their abuser and replace vital documents such as birth certificates, driver's licenses, and school records, so they can begin a new life, free from domestic violence.

The nationally recognized and proven Family Peace Center model enables us to transform our community's response to family violence. Ultimately, this helps make Arkansas a healthier, safer, and more peaceful place to live.

Little Rock needs this. Arkansas needs this.
